

It is wrong for Sinclair Broadcasting to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary shortly before the election.

This shows clearly why media should not be consolidated.

Sinclair by law must serve the public interest, and should be at least showing both side of the story by forcing their stations to show 'GOing Upriver' immediately afterwards.

When large companies control the airwaves, we don't get what's good for democracy, but rather they are interested only in their profits.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard.

Thank you for listening to my concerns!
